ABSTRACT

A directory of 4,013 hospital-administered allied health and nursing programs throughout the United States is presented in the document. Section 1, Guide to Training Programs, is designed for guidance counselors, students, and health planners. It contains an alphabetical listing of training programs within major occupational categories and provides information on program length, educational entrance requirements, and number of graduates. Section 2, Guide to Hospitals Having Training Programs, is designed for hospital administrators and health planners. It presents an alphabetical listing of hospitals having training programs by state and by city and provides information regarding the individual hospitals. Both sections are preceded by explanatory notes and a table of contents. The four-part appendix includes: (1) Screener Questionnaire, part 1 of the survey sent to hospitals; (2) Detailed Program Questionnaire, part 2 of the survey; (3) Glossary of Occupational Titles, a compilation of terms used in the document; and (4) Titles of Programs, Reported by Respondent Hospitals, not contained in the above glossary. An index lists all hospital training programs included in the directory. (LH)

PREFACE

Health Occupations Training Programs Administered by Hospitals, October 1973, is a directory of hospital-administered allied health and nursing programs in the United States. It represents the results of a survey of such programs conducted by the American Hospital Association (AHA) under a 1972 contract (No. MI - 24315) with the Bureau of Health Resources Development*. A companion directory, Allied Health Education Programs in Junior and Senior Colleges, 1973, is now being developed by the Bureau. Together, these two directories will provide the most comprehensive guide to allied health training programs currently available.

This publication was prepared in BHRD's Resource Analysis Staff, Howard V. Stambler, Chief, under the direction of David Ohaneson, Project Officer of the AHA contract. Bernard Ferber, Sc.D., former Director of Research Services, American Hospital Association, was the Project Director for the contract. Lorraine Richter, Director, Division of Survey Research; Andrew Korsak, Research Assistant; and other members of the AHA staff are to be thanked for their efforts in conducting the survey and in developing the directory. Both the AHA and BHRD also wish to thank the responding hospitals, without whose help this directory could not have been developed.

* The work on the survey was initiated in the Division of Manpower Intelligence which was a component of the Bureau of Health Resources Development (BHRD) until March 1, 1974 when it was dissolved in conjunction with the reorganization of the Bureau.

INTRODUCTION

This directory provides information on 4,013 allied health and nursing training programs administered by hospitals in the United States as of October 1973. In order to make the Directory more useful to people with different interests, it consists of two sections, each preceded by explanatory notes and a table of contents.

Section I, Guide to Training Programs, designed primarily for guidance counselors, students, and health planners, contains an alphabetical listing of training programs classified within major occupational categories. Information is provided on program length, educational entrance requirements, and number of graduates. Potential students should, of course, contact directly programs of interest to obtain additional information. (The full address of each hospital is provided in Section II.)

Section II, Guide to Hospitals Having Training Programs, designed primarily for hospital administrators and health planners, presents an alphabetical listing by State and city of those hospitals having training programs. In addition to listing all training programs available at each hospital, Section II provides information about each hospital — control or ownership, the type of service provided, and the number of beds.

The Appendix is composed of four parts:

- A. "Screener Questionnaire" is a photo copy of Part I of the survey questionnaire sent to hospitals in April 1973;
- B. "Detailed Program Questionnaire" is a photo copy of Part II of the above-mentioned Survey Questionnaire sent to hospitals in October 1973;
- C. "Glossary of Occupational Titles" is the compilation basic to this directory; and
- D. "Titles of Programs, Reported by Respondent Hospitals, not contained in above Glossary," is self-explanatory.

The Index at the end of this volume lists all hospital training programs included in the directory, alphabetically and by page number.

SURVEY METHODOLOGY

The information which is reported in this publication was gathered through two data collection instruments. These were: 1) A screener questionnaire (Appendix A) to identify those training programs about which detailed information would be collected; and 2) A program questionnaire (Appendix B) to collect the detailed information. In addition, a glossary of occupational titles (Appendix C) was sent to hospital administrators to standardize the classification of training programs. A listing of health occupations training program titles other than those in the glossary reported by respondent hospitals (Appendix D) is also provided, but detailed definitions are not given.

In April 1973, the screener questionnaire was mailed to 7,529 nonmilitary hospitals in the United States. Responses were received from 89 percent of the hospitals that were recipients of the screener questionnaire.

In October 1973, questionnaires requesting detailed information about each training program identified through the screener questionnaire were sent to 2,373 hospitals that had reported at least one hospital-administered allied health or nurse training p

KEY METHODOLOGY

is reported in this publication was gathered on instruments. These were: 1) A screener to identify those training programs about which data would be collected; and 2) A program questionnaire to collect the detailed information. In addition, a list of occupational titles (Appendix C) was sent to respondents to standardize the classification of training programs. The occupations training program titles other than those reported by respondent hospitals (Appendix D) and their definitions are not given.

The screener questionnaire was mailed to 7,529 hospitals in the United States. Responses were received from 6,841 hospitals that were recipients of the screener questionnaire.

Questionnaires requesting detailed information were sent to the 6,841 hospitals identified through the screener questionnaire that had reported at least one hospital-administered allied health or nurse training program meeting the following criteria:

1. Be operational at the time of the survey or planned for operation by January 1975.
2. Be an independent program administered by a hospital. (Joint or cooperative programs shared with junior or senior colleges were excluded.)
3. Be designed to train persons in the patient care fields of nursing and allied health. (Programs focusing on maintenance or central services staff were excluded.)
4. Prepare people for service in an occupation or at an occupational level new to them. (Orientation, refresher courses, continuing education, and inservice training were excluded.)
5. Have a fixed schedule and be based on at least 36 hours of formally planned education which may be given in the classroom, or part in the classroom and part "on location", or may be in part demonstration or practice.

The 90 percent of the questionnaires that were returned by July 31, 1974 are the basis for this directory.*

* Programs not meeting the criteria for inclusion in the survey, programs to be merged or phased out, and programs responding after July 31, 1974 were excluded from this directory.
